

SUGAR
Supporting University Global Action Research
(Beginning in Fall, 2018)

Co-Chairs

Candace Kaye (santakaye@gmail.edu)

New Mexico State University

Mongolian National University of Education and

Charlotte Hardacre (charlotte.hardacre@cumbria.ac.uk)

University of Cumbria

The vision of SUGAR is to contribute to university action research engagement globally by having an ARNA action research community (ARC) focused on three areas of inquiry and action – research, practice, and education.

Specifically, the ARC plans to include:

- Sharing action research studies, both in progress and completed, of the SUGAR ARC members in their higher education institutions. The ARC will have an ongoing list of action research projects in progress and a list of publications of the members.
- Discussing the variety of organizational processes for building action research communities at the ARC member universities. The Action Research Sector at Mongolian National University of Education (MNUE) has agreed to begin and lead the first discussion during the first year of building the ARC.
- Engaging in scheduled collaborative action research online seminars. The online seminar model reflects inclusion, dialogue, and collective decision-making for future seminar content.

Please keep checking for new ARC content after the 2018-2019 academic year begins. We anticipate we will have more details by September 17th.

Candace and Charlotte